| 3 | Authority Decisions
Consistent with 5 C.F.R. 2429.12(a), the Office of Case Intake and Publication (CIP) sends official orders out by first-class mail and fax. | Labor-relations practitioners; federal-agency employees; managers; union representatives; Federal-sector arbitrators; and other members of the public. | Following a decision-writing initiative (discussed in more detail below), Authority decisions more effectively convey difficult legal concepts. The Authority has eliminated redundancies in its decisions by weaving the parties’ arguments into the analysis portion of decisions, rather than initially setting forth the parties’ arguments and then restating them in the analysis. By moving all legal citations to footnotes – instead of placing them in text – Authority decisions are now more readable because the citations do not interrupt the flow of sentences. Recitation of frequently applied legal standards and disposition of minor issues are increasingly relegated to footnotes so that the main text is more streamlined. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 4 | Authority Drafting Guide (Updated March 12, 2013, and on March 5, 2014)
The Drafting Guide is posted on the Authority’s intranet. | Attorneys and labor-relations specialists who draft or review Authority decisions. | This 80-page drafting guide encourages clarity and uniformity in the way case-writing staffers draft and review Authority decisions. The guide sets forth the style, general formatting, and citation formatting for Authority decisions. The guide specifically instructs case-writing staffers to use plain writing where appropriate and incorporates all of the decision-writing-initiative-recommendations that the Members adopted. |
| 5 | Authority Guide to Arbitration (Updated September 30, 2016)
The Guide to Arbitration is posted on the FLRA.gov website. | Labor-relations practitioners; federal-agency employees; managers; union representatives; federal-sector arbitrators; and other members of the public. | More effective communication and clearer guidance and information to parties and arbitrators regarding the arbitration process and their legal rights and responsibilities. |

e. Ongoing compliance/Sustaining change

[List the ways you intend to stay in compliance with the Act.]

- i. Name of agency contact for compliance issues:
  - Aloysius Hogan

- ii. Documenting and reporting use of plain writing in agency communications:
  - Aloysius Hogan

- iii. Clearance process:
  Each FLRA component (Authority, FSIP, and OGC) is responsible for developing a plain-writing clearance process for documents. This compliance report was reviewed by FLRA’s Plain Language coordinators Melissa Wisniewski, Dan Duran, and Cabrina Smith, as well as Acting General Counsel Charlotte Dye, Executive Director Michael Jeffries, and then approved by FLRA Chairman Ernie DuBester.

f. Agency’s plain writing website

The FLRA’s web page for the Plain Writing Act is:

- i. Website address: https://www.flra.gov/plain_language

- ii. Contact us page [www.…] (EngagetheFLRA@flra.gov)

- iii. Implementation of the Act
1) Documents covered by the Act:
As explained on www.flra.gov/plain_language, we must use plain language in any document that:

- is necessary for obtaining any federal government benefit or service that we provide (Authority Decisions, Federal Service Impasse Panel Decisions, Office of Administrative Law Judges Decisions, Solicitor’s Briefs and Court Decisions, and Office of General Counsel Decisions (unpublished));
- provides information about any federal government benefit or service (FLRA Press Releases); or
- explains to the public how to comply with a requirement that the FLRA administers or enforces (FLRA YouTube Instructional Videos, with transcripts, Office of General Counsel’s Representation Resources).

2) Timeline:
Plain Writing Act Compliance reports are filed annually. Individual case decisions occur as soon as practicable after cases are filed. Press releases are issued as events warrant. Instructional materials are created and updated on an as-needed basis, with the emphasis during the pandemic being on creating new videos.

iv. Links to Compliance reports:

1) July 13, 2011
2) April 12, 2012
3) April 12, 2013
4) April 16, 2014
5) April 30, 2015
6) April 22, 2016
7) June 23, 2017
8) October 14, 2020

v. Links to OMB and PLAIN:
Both found on www.flra.gov/plain_language:
“The FLRA is committed to writing new documents in plain language, using the Federal Plain Language Guidelines and the OMB implementation guidance on the Plain Writing Act of 2010.”

g. Customer Satisfaction Evaluation after Experiencing Plain Writing Communications

The FLRA invites the public to give us feedback on the FLRA’s implementation of its Plain-Writing Initiative using EngagetheFLRA@flra.gov. We will report on such feedback in future compliance reports. During the past year we have not received any feedback or inquiries.
