eFiling System

The FLRA Case eFiling System currently provides an easy way to electronically file cases with the Authority -- the FLRA's three-Member adjudicatory body -- and the Federal Service Impasses Panel. Using the links below you may also file Complaints with the FLRA's Inspector General electronically. The FLRA intends to expand its eFiling offerings in the coming months to allow parties to electronically file cases with the Office of the General Counsel, and to make electronic requests under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

To get started, identify the type of case that you intend to file with the FLRA and click on the appropriate link below. First-time users of the Case eFiling System will be asked to create an account by registering in the system prior to filing a case. Once your account is approved by the FLRA (normally within one business day), you will receive an email notification and may proceed with filing your case. Please note that a case is not "filed" within the meaning of any regulatory or statutory time limits until all of the relevant case information requested by the system is completed and submitted -- registration in the Case eFiling System alone will not meet any time limits for filing a case. For filers that have an existing account, the Case eFiling System will allow you to proceed directly to filing your case after logging in.

Your profile will be created and sent to you. Approval normally happens within 24 hours. An automatic email message will be sent to you once your profile has been approved. After your profile has been approved, you can begin filing cases using the FLRA Case eFiling system.

Please select the FLRA office where you most frequently file cases. For example, if you more often file documents concerning exceptions to arbitration awards, negotiability appeals, exceptions to ALJ decisions in unfair labor practice (ULP) cases, or applications for review in representation cases, then select the Authority. If you most frequently file requests for assistance in resolving bargaining impasses, then select FSIP. And if you most frequently file ULP charges or representation petitions, then select the Office of the General Counsel Regional Office where you usually file your cases. Then click the Save button.
