June 10, 1991. We did not receive any comments. The facts presented in the Comments on the interim rule were from Orange County, California, and the peach fruit fly has been eradicated from the area in California as a quarantined area. We have determined that the peach fruit fly has been eradicated from Orange County, California, and the regulations are no longer necessary.

SUPPLEMENTS:
Background
In an interim rule effective April 4, 1991, and published in the Federal Register on April 10, 1991 (56 FR 14459-14460, Docket Number 91-096), we amended the “Domestic Quarantine Notices” in 7 CFR part 301 by removing the “Peach Fruit Fly” regulations (7 CFR 301.96 through 301.96-10). These regulations designated a portion of Orange County, California as a quarantined area and imposed restrictions on the interstate movement of regulated articles from that area. We have determined that the peach fruit fly has been eradicated from Orange County, California, and the regulations are no longer necessary.

SUMMARY:
We are affirming without change an interim rule that removed the peach fruit fly regulations that designated a portion of Orange County in California as a quarantined area and imposed restrictions on the interstate movement of regulated articles from that area. We have determined that the peach fruit fly has been eradicated from Orange County, California, and the regulations are no longer necessary.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 12291 AND REGULATORY FLEXIBILITY ACT
We are issuing this rule in conformance with Executive Order 12291, and we have determined that it is not a “major rule.” Based on information compiled by the Department, we have determined that this rule will have an effect on the economy of less than $100 million; will not cause a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions; and will not cause a significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

For this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived its review process required by Executive Order 12291.

The regulation affirmed by this action affects the interstate movement of regulated articles from a portion of Orange County, California. Within the previously regulated area there are approximately 530 small entities that may be affected, including retail outlets, wholesalers, a processor, a packing house, fruit stands, swap meets, mobile vendors, a farmers market, nurseries, and a commercial grower of cucumbers. The effect of this rule on these entities should be insignificant since most of the small entities handle regulated articles primarily for intrastate movement, and were not affected by the regulatory provisions we removed.

The effect of the regulations on those few persons who moved regulated articles interstate was minimized by the availability of a treatment that in most cases permitted the interstate movement of regulated articles with very little additional cost. Also, many of these entities sell other items in addition to the previously regulated articles.

Further, the number of affected entities is small compared with the thousands of small entities that move these articles interstate from nonquarantined areas in California and other States. Under these circumstances, the Administrator of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Executive Order 12291
We are issuing this rule in conformance with Executive Order 12291, and we have determined that it is not a “major rule.” Based on information compiled by the Department, we have determined that this rule will have an effect on the economy of less than $100 million; will not cause a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions; and will not cause a significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

For this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived its review process required by Executive Order 12291.

SUMMARY:
The purpose of this rule is to adopt as a final rule, with certain changes which will enhance the effectiveness of the programs, a proposed rule which was published in the Federal Register on March 6, 1990 (55 FR 7905). This final rule amends the regulations at 7 CFR part 1475, to set forth the regulations for the livestock emergency programs conducted by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). The final rule provides a simplified method of obtaining these programs with respect to: (1) Computing feed needs for eligible livestock; (2) determining feed on hand; and (3) determining owner eligibility.
